

THE HUCK INSTITUTES OF THE LIFE SCIENCES

3rd Annual Life Science Symposium Pennsylvania State University Friday, May 18th, 2018

Time	Event	Location*
8:30 am	Breakfast and Registration	Atrium
9:00-9:10 am	Introduction and Welcome	Rm 110
9:15-10:15 am	Keynote Presentation I: Dr. Nina Fedoroff, Science Adviser at the Santa Fe Institute, Global Knowledge Initiative, and OFW Law, Washington, D.C. , Feeding 10 billion people: is the problem technological or social?	Rm 110
10:20-11:40 am	Poster Session I: Odd #s Snacks and Refreshments	Atrium
11:45-12:15 pm	Invited Student Seminar: Duverney Chaverra Rodriguez , Targeted delivery of CRISPR-associated endonuclease 9 (Cas9) into insect ovaries for heritable germ line gene editing	Rm 107
11:45-12:15 pm	Invited Student Seminar: Xuan Wang , Fiber-resolution visualization of plant primary cell wall by fluorescently tagged cellulose binding protein	Rm 108
12:15-12:45 pm	Invited Student Seminar: Adwitia Dey , A Brave Neuro World: How deciphering the novel signaling role of macrophage-associated Ron receptor tyrosine kinase activation, can help us remedy the plight of neurodegeneration	Rm 107
12:15-12:45 pm	Invited Student Seminar: Hillary Figler , Putative microcin in ST73 E. coli strain amplifies Shiga toxin production of O157:H7	Rm 108
12:45-2:05 pm	Poster Session II: Even #s Lunch Served	Atrium
2:10-3:40 pm	Student Research Lightning Talks	Track A: Rm 102 Track B: Rm 107 Track C: Rm 108
3:45-4:45 pm	Keynote Presentation II: Dr. David Titley, Professor, Department of Meteorology and School of International Affairs, Penn State , Climate Risk and Security: People not Polar Bears {and how to talk about it}	Rm 110
4:45-5:30 pm	Closing Statements and Awards Hors d'oeuvres served	Atrium

*All events held at Smeal College of Business Building